Learn About Leading Strategic Change at WHA's 2023 Physician Leadership Development Conference

Jeff Chan, MA, who is one of the esteemed faculty for the WHA Health Care Leadership Academy, will be presenting Leading Strategic Change in Times of Uncertainty & Disruption at WHA's 2023 Physician Leadership Development Conference in Kohler, WI.

Health care has been operating through constant change for decades while navigating rapidly advancing technologies, evolving standards of care, changing patient and population demographics, cost pressures, evolving fee and reimbursement models, and complexities in the legal and regulatory environment. With the recent pandemic and change on the horizon, this transformation and disruption creates a need to build resilient and capable health care leaders with the skills to successfully navigate the complexities and opportunities of the future of health care. Be prepared to effectively lead change within your organization by learning strategies that will help you adapt to these new realities and changing conditions.
