

WHA, HEAT Launch 2022 Election Resources

WHA and the Hospitals Education & Advocacy Team (HEAT) this week unveiled an Elections 2022 web page with resources to promote voter awareness as the November 8 Election draws near.

All the resources can be found on the WHA website at www.wha.org/Elections, and includes:

- List of important Wisconsin voter deadlines.
- Where voters can register to vote, request an absentee ballot, and view a sample of their ballot.
- Downloadable visual posters for WHA members to encourage voter participation and engagement within their own organizations.
- Information to engage in health care advocacy through HEAT or the Wisconsin Hospitals State PAC & Conduit
- Link to Wisconsin Eye’s candidate interview videos where voters can learn where candidates stand on health care and other issues.

WHA is again a proud sponsor of WisconsinEye’s non-partisan Campaign 2022 coverage, which includes the production of informative interviews of candidates across the state. The interviews include questions on various topics, including health care, posed by Lisa Pugh, host of WisconsinEye's Newsmakers podcast. With health care a major issue area in the upcoming elections, Pugh has been asking candidates about the need for prioritizing hospital support in the next biennial state budget, as well as their ideas on helping hospitals meet the workforce challenges they face.

"This kind of campaign coverage can really help people understand the choices they have when they vote," WHA President and CEO Eric Borgerding said. "Helping WisconsinEye with this campaign is another way WHA advances sound health care policy—by letting people get a good look at who's running to represent them in Madison and Washington, D.C."

WisEye's Campaign 2022 interviews can be found here, with new interviews added regularly. The general election is on Tuesday, November 8.
